

Battle of Cape Golenros April 2, 1789

Argosian TF 35 under vice-admiral Wecheter, with 3 battleships and screening units, was sent to eliminate forces of Northern Pact based at port Bernolli. His reinforcements, Force B, was delayed.

At morning of April 2, TF 35 encountered battle-ready Santean navy and supporting Daljanetar Battlegroup 5, with totally 5 battleships and 2 battlecruisers. During next four hours, all three forces fought large and bloody battle.

After first hour of battle, Santean lost battlecruiser General Dordi and supporting Daljanetar Seevald exploded with all hands. Flagship King Giacomo was damaged and forced to retreat. After that, BG 5 engaged TF 35 and managed to heavily damage all TF 35 battleships and disable Argosian flagship Anchor the Great, killing vice-admiral Wecheter. Then, torpedo counterattack of Argosian destroyers caused heavy losses between BG 5 screen, forcing Daljanetar to delay their pursuit.

After regrouping, BG 5 resumed her pursuit. After critical damage to battleship Trident, however, it was engaged from great distance by finally arriving Force B with four superior battleships, and forced to withdraw, leaving battleship Fearless behind. Force B and remnants of TF 35 then retreated as well. During their withdrawal, several air raids from land bases caused another casualties.

Great Southern Alliance:
 Argos: 3 battleships (2 lost), 3 light cruisers (1 lost), 8 destroyers (2 lost)
 Lepps: 4 battleships, 2 heavy cruisers, 1 light cruiser, 9 destroyers (1 lost)

Northern Pact:
 Santean:
 - Navy: 1 battleship, 1 battlecruiser (lost), 4 destroyers
 - Air force: 97 medium bombers (19 lost), 48 fighters (12 lost)
 Daljanetar:
 - Navy: 4 battleships (1 lost), 1 battlecruiser (lost), 3 light cruisers (2 lost), 12 destroyers (3 lost)
 - Air force: 15 medium bombers (7 lost), 12 torpedo bombers (9 lost), 22 fighter-bombers (10 lost)

Fourth wave, attacking

14:00
 T-163
 Weather
 Storm

15:21
 Naval subgroup X spotted

15:45

15:42

Force F Airforce engaging Argosian